DEDICATED TO THE MEMORY OF
WAYNE COUNTY, IOWA MEN
OF
THE CIVIL WAR
1861                  1865
CENTENNIAL COMMEMORATION
1961

It is our purpose in this book to commemorate the names of our own Wayne Co. men who took part in the Great War of the Rebellion, known as the Civil War. For the cause and effect of this great struggle, for the names of great battles fought and where, we refer you to histories and writings of historians to be found in various libraries throughout the nation.

We dedicate this book to our noble and valiant men herein listed as worthy of remembrance by all our citizens. May their glory as Americans be a heritage to cherish throughout the ages.

LINCOLN'S CREED

"The will of God prevails; without HIM all human reliance is vain: Without the assistance of that Divine Being, I cannot succeed; with that assistance I cannot fail."

"I am a humble instrument in the hands of Our Heavenly Father; I desire that all my works and acts be according to His will; and that it may be so I give thanks to the Almighty and seek His aid."

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The officers of the Wayne County Historical Society are grateful to Wm. I. McConnell of Seymour, Mrs. Lola Cherry and Grant Kelley of Corydon, for the loan of their records, and to all those who contributed pictures, letters, stories, the advertisers and donors, who have made this book possible. Special donors First National Bank, Centerville, Iowa.

In preparing this volume of Civil War Veterans, every effort has been made to make it as accurate as possible. The Adjutant General's report of 1864, the Roster of Soldiers published in 1908, the Wayne and Appanoose County Biographical History and the Wayne-Lucas County History, were checked and rechecked and the material was prepared for publication by Warren Burton, Altha and Ortha Green.

If any company or date differs from those you may have, remember that many soldiers enlisted early in the war and reenlisted later in a different company.

Also, after battles, to fill the ranks, many companies and regiments were consolidated. Thus many names were listed in more than one company.

FOREWORD

The Civil War without doubt was the most dramatic episode of the American nation. In this book we have tried to keep the memory alive and recall the glory and idealism of those years when a century ago our forefathers fought for what they believed to be right.

In this thrilling chapter in our history these men as we so well know now, did not die in vain. And from 6000 battle fields America emerged a united country with strength and purpose to become in our time the leader of the free world.

The Wayne County Historical Society trusts that all of its members will share with genuine interest in the American Civil War Centennial, 1861-1865 and pay honor to the heroism and idealism of our forefathers.

The first thing we did was to get a list of the names of the people who had been in the country and to find out what they had done. We then tried to get a list of the names of the
people who had been in the country and to find out what they had done.

It is a fact that in the history of the country we have seen as well as the fact that the people who have been in the country have been the people who have been in the country.

The way we have been in the country will show us the way the people have been in the country and the way the people have been in the country.

Very truly,
Yours,

HALLOWED GROUND

For four years and more the notes of the fife and drum and bugle and the tramp of armed hosts were continually heard, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from the Gulf of Mexico to British North America, and the clash of arms was borne northward on every breeze from the sunny but blood-drenched plains of the South. For four years and more "grim-visaged war" had waved its crimson banners over the fair fabric the fathers had erected in a vain endeavor to hurl it from its foundations. In this terrible and gigantic struggle, Wayne County had borne its full part, and many a brave volunteer from its beautiful prairies had laid down his life on the battlefield or starved to death in the rebel slaughter pens of Andersonville and Macon.

But now Sherman and his "brave boys in blue" had made their memorable and historic march to the sea, Lee had surrendered to the victorious army of the Union under Grant, the war was ended, peace restored, the Union preserved in its integrity, and the patriotic sons of Wayne County who were spared to witness the final victory of the armies of the Union returned to their homes to receive grand ovations and tributes of honor from friends and neighbors who had eagerly and anxiously watched and followed them wherever the varying fortunes of war had called them.

Exchanging their soldier's uniforms for citizen's dress, most of them fell back to their old work—on the farm, in the shop, in the mines, at the forge, the bench, in the shop, in the office, or at whatever else their hands found to do. Their noble deeds, in the hour of their country's peril, are now and always will be dear to the hearts of the people whom they so faithfully served. Brave men are always honored, and no class of citizens are entitled to greater respect than the brave volunteers of Wayne County, not simply because they were soldiers, but because, in their associations with their fellow men, their walk is upright, and their character and honesty without reproach.

"Their country first, their glory and their pride;
Land of their hopes—land where their fathers died;
When in the right, they'll keep their honor bright;
When in the wrong, they'll die to set it right."

(Excerpt from Wayne and Appanoose County, Biographical and Historical Record. Pps. 531 and 532.)

THE CALL TO ARMS

The Civil War broke out on April 12, 1861, and the entire North was shaken to the depths of despair. When on April 14, 1861, Abraham Lincoln, President of the U. S. A., issued a call for volunteers, Wayne county, Iowa was prompt in making ready. The first to respond was Co. "I" 4th Ia. Vol. Inf., entirely made up of Wayne county men. It was mustered into service August 1, 1861, and became known as one of Iowa's most famous companies. The 1st Capt. was W. E. Taylor. Another full company was Co. "D" 23rd Ia. Vol. Inf., mustered into service in Aug. 1862, with Capt. Samuel Glasgow as commander, who resigned, whereupon Capt. Hiram Evans took command in 1863, and when he resigned in 1864, William M. Littell became Captain in 1864 and remained with the 23rd until the close of the war.

Then Co. "F" 34th Ia. Vol. Inf. comprised another full company led by Capt. J. N. McClanahan. The 34th was later consolidated with the 38th Inf. Quite a number joined the 36th Ia. Vol. Inf. and the 34th Co. "H" Ia. Inf. were almost all from Wayne County. About thirty-five Wayne county men enlisted in the 18th Mo. Inf., and a few in other states.

The 3rd and 8th Cavalry contained around thirty or forty making the number of men enlisting from Wayne county over 600, which was more than 50% of the 1,000 men available.

A roster of Soldiers follows.

Information about the men appears in this order: Name, Age, Where From, Rank, Regiment, Company and Enlistment Date.

DAVID BOTT

The following sketch is taken from an article written by Miss Portia Hutchinson, a granddaughter of David Bott, who related these facts.

"One day while in Corydon, Iowa, with a neighbor boy, one Saturday afternoon, they saw a sign posted stating that President Lincoln had called for 75,000 soldiers. They were determined to enlist. On August 15, 1862, they joined Company "F" 34th Iowa Vol. Infantry and were mustered into service of the United States on November 22, 1862. They were stationed for a time near Burlington, Iowa. On November 22 this regiment embarked in boats for Helena, Arkansas. They suffered much distress from insufficient room on the transports. They arrived at Helena in December and left to join General Sherman in his unsuccessful expedition against Vicksburg. In January 1863 they went to Arkansas Post where they captured 5,000 men as prisoners, and transported them in the dead of winter, on three small boats, to Chicago.

The guarding of these prisoners was one of the most severe of hardships. They were at the capture of Vicksburg and took part in many other skirmishes.

On August 17, 1865, the regiment was mustered out of service. David Bott returned to Wayne county, to peace, rest and home. But of the seven young men who enlisted together that day in the year 1862, David Bott was the only one to return home. The others died in the service".

ANDREW JACKSON DAVIS

Born April 14, 1833 in Green County, Kentucky

3rd Corps

He enlisted in Wayne County, Iowa on July 26, 1862, in Co. "D" 23rd Reg. Ia. Inf. and served three years under Capt. Wm. M. Littell. He was discharged at Harrisburg, Texas, July 26, 1865. He was a stalwart and handsome man, being 5 ft. 10 in. tall with light complexion, black eyes and hair.

On Dec. 21, 1853, he married Mary Ellen MacComas. In the year of 1855 they moved to a farm in Wayne county in the Union Church neighborhood. Later on the family bought a farm one mile east of Bethlehem where they reared their family. Andrew, like his father, was a Baptist minister.

Their son, Charlie, bought this home place and lived there with his family until his death in 1952. Another son, James C., was widely known in the county, both in community and church work.

Andrew's father, Owen Davis, was a slave owner and Baptist preacher. When he moved north from Kentucky to Sangamon Co. near Springfield, Ill., he freed his slaves.

Interesting Facts

The following was taken from the Adjutant General's report of 1863, and named several Camps and where they were located.

Camp Harlan, and Camp McKean at Mt. Pleasant, Iowa. Camp Halleck, Rankin and Lincoln at Keokuk, Iowa. Camp Herron, McClellan and Hendershott at Davenport, Iowa. Camp Kirkwood at Clinton, Iowa. Camp Franklin at Dubuque, Iowa. Camp Pope at Iowa City, Iowa. Camp Strong at Muscatine, Iowa. Camp Dodge at Council Bluffs, Iowa. Camp Tuttle at Oskaloosa, Iowa. Camp Curtis at Ottumwa, Iowa. Then Camp Lawman at Burlington, Iowa., where the 34th company was sent, and Camp Burnside at Des Moines, Iowa, where the 23rd Inf. was encamped.

No private in the Army could resign, but the officers could at their will. This accounts for rapid promotions.

Fully armed, a soldier carried about seven pounds of ammunition. His cartridge pouch contained 40 rounds and an additional 60 rounds might be conveyed in the pocket if an extensive battle was anticipated.

The diseases most prevalent were dysentery, typhoid fever, malaria, pneumonia, arthritis, and the acute diseases of childhood, such as measles and malnutrition.

NO ANSWER

by

Ortha Green

No captain stood in the early dawn;
No face appeared pale and drawn;
None are left the story to tell,
How they were wounded, how they fell.

No sentinel standing in the night;
None to welcome the morning light;
No sturdy men splashed with blood;
None to cross the crimson-dyed flood.

No fire to belch from the other side;
No thundrous roar across the tide;
No voice responded; none replied.
Only the sad-wind softly sighed.

No more glory that yonder lies;
No one to think of broken ties;
The Flag still waves over those so dear,
None are left to answer "Here".

CAPT. HIRAM EVANS

Born June 18, 1819, in Bedford County, Penn.

In the summer of 1863, he helped S. L. Glasgow raise a company of volunteers, known as Co. "D" 23rd Ia. Inf., and he was made a 1st Lieut. He served 2 years and 4 months. At Black River and Millikin's Bend his regiment lost heavily. The 23rd also took part in the siege of Vicksburg. He was commissioned Captain in August 1863, and remained in service until the close of the war.

Several years after his return from the war he was killed by a freight train in Seymour, Iowa, on March 19, 1903.

Following is a letter and excerpts from his army diary.

Dear wife and children—

I take my pen in hand this after noon to rite a few lines to inform you that my health is Tolerable good with one exception and that is that I have rheumatism in my Back and Legs and I can't git about very well, but I think I am getting better. I would like to here from you and the children, it has bin a long time Since I have had a letter from you and I am very anxious to get a letter from you. So I can here. Louisa how are you getting along and what for a winter you have in Iowa weather. They weather is cold or not or much snow and how your fead is holding for your stock and whether you think you will have a nuff to winter your stock through. I have not saw any snow this winter yeat. Sometimes in December towards the last of the Month Ice froze ane inch thick in a bucket. We have some cold north wind down here in Texas all though it is said to be a very warm climate but I doubt it some because the North Wind blows cold here like it dus in Iowa in the dead of winter. The last letter I received from you was dated December 8 A D 1863 and now it is Jan. 12, 1864 and this day I remember for twenty years ago today we was Married in the State of Pennsylvania, more than two thousand miles from this place and only think that I am a way on the Southern Coast of Texas in this Cruel War and you and our little Children in Iowa and only think of the trials and trouble that you and I have seen in the last 22 years. We have had Some Pleasures in the time but had to under gow a grate many hardships and Troubles and Privations. My prayer is that we may have a good time yet when this Cruel War is over. I must close for the present by requesting you write as soon as this letter comes to hand.

THE CAVALRY'S PLACE IN THE WAR

By Altha E. Green

An Army "marches upon its stomach", but the Cavalry marches upon its horses' feet which must be well cared for. The Cavalry was a valuable branch of the army. Every company had its own farrier, enlisted as such. These men had to know all about shoeing horses and be skilled veterinary surgeons as well. A small portable anvil set on an overturned bucket, a business-like leather apron, tongs, hammer, shoes, nails, rasp and chisel were equipment.

A test of a good Cavalry man lies in his skill in caring for his horse. It was not safe to turn horses out to graze and then drink their fill of water at the river. When on a long march a staggering horse with dry parched throat and fast glazing eyes whinnying for water required good judgment on the trooper's part to ration the allowance of water.

More horses were lost through the troopers' ignorance in caring for them than by wounds on the battlefield, which meant millions of dollars loss to the Union government. As a matter of fact Southern horsemen were more experienced than the Northern men.

A well equipped Cavalry horse must have a saddle, (the McClellan model covered with rawhide was used) and blanket. The hooded stirrup was useful both to keep out the rain and protect the feet in winter from the cold. The saddle bags were also necessary. A single rein and curb bit were preferred by cavalrymen. The breast-strap or martingale was not issued to the men, but was very useful to keep the saddle from slipping on the rump of the horse, when running up hills, jumping ditches or other places where an unusual strain was on the belly-band or girth.

The Cavalry played a very important part in the Civil War. The cavalrymen were equipped with a light curved blade saber and a carbine and revolver. He fought as well on foot as on horseback.

It was the cavalry who day and night rode the picket line, and their horses carried them quickly from one part of the battlefield to another. Only in battle with another fighting cavalry did the rider stay on his horse during battle. Horses were valuable to the men who rode them and both were constantly exposed to enemy fire. Many times the cavalry led the charge against the enemy. Because of their swiftness they did much of the flanking movements of the battles, and also protected the infantry. The cavalry often lived by foraging, or went hungry. When the rebels turned and ran it was the cavalry that pursued them.

It required about 500 new horses each day for replacements. In 1864 the army had 170,622 horses in service besides 13,000 artillery horses. More were used in the Battle of Gettysburg. Never again will horses play so prominent a part in war, as they have been supplanted by mechanization.

THE 3RD IOWA CAVALRY

The 3rd Iowa Cavalry was one which was well represented by Wayne County men, there being 115 names on my list. Iowa had nine cavalry regiments in the Civil War, starting with No. 1, and according to a letter, a copy of which I have and will include, which refers to the 7th Iowa, nearly all of them must have gotten into service early in the war.

This letter was written in November 1861, by Isaac C. Hutchinson to his brother Sanford Hutchinson. This letter contains the following information: "We left Keokuk on the 10th of November, 1861, for St. Louis and got there the next day and found our camp about three miles from town. Our camp is laid off a good deal like a town, with a large parade ground in the center and camps on both sides. There are about 12,000 troops here at this time. The 7th Iowa came here last Saturday. They had a battle at Belmont, Kentucky, and had about 80 of their men killed and a hundred of them wounded and taken prisoners. They killed 800 of the rebels, then the "Rebs" were reinforced and came back and drove our men back to the river and into their boats. They have come here to recruit."

A copy of this letter and also a roster of Company "M" 3rd Ia. Cavalry, the company to which this Hutchinson belonged, was loaned to me by Mrs. R. D. Kaster, who is a grand-daughter of Sanford Hutchinson. The following record of Co. "M" is found on this record. "Company "M" of the 3rd regiment of Iowa Cavalry, was enlisted in Wayne, Decatur, Ringgold Counties, in the month of August, 1861; was mustered into the volunteer service of the United States at Keokuk, Iowa, on the 12 of September, following; with John W. Warner, Capt., Benjamin S. Jones, 1st Lieut., which company completed the organization of this regiment. The company was equipped at Camp Rankin, Keokuk, and on the 8th of November was transported to Benton Barracks, St. Louis, Mo., where they received further arms and instructions. They stayed until the 1st of February, 1862, when they were ordered to the field for active service. At this time Capt. Warner tendered his resignation, and Benjamin S. Jones was made Captain." Jones was a Wayne County enlistee and was later made Lieut. Colonel.

The company moved to Rolla, Missouri on the 8th of February, where they joined General Curtis' army which was pursuing the rebel forces under Gen. Price. After a march of 200 miles they joined the army at Sugar Creek, Arkansas, on the 18th day of February, and were with the cavalry reconnaissances prior to the battle of Pea Ridge. It was at the battle of Pea Ridge, March 1862, that Corporal Mansfield was killed and several other officers wounded or taken prisoners. The company took part in the engagement at Hartsville, Mo., and on the raid at Batesville, Arkansas. The battle of Pea Ridge was one of the fiercest battles and heavy losses occurred here, with hundreds of killed and wounded. The Union forces were driven back the first day but on the second day the Rebel forces were defeated and routed.

By Warren H. Burton

Of the 115 men in the 3rd Ia. Cav., from Wayne County, three were commissioned officers; Wm. C. Drake, Major; Horace D. B. Cutler, Capt.; Cornelius King, Quarter Master. Non-Com. Micajah Baker, 2nd Lieut. There was two "farriers," Wm. F. Coulter and Sam. Mahana. Nineteen men died in battle or of wounds during their term of service, and one officer, Wm. C. Drake, died at his home in Corydon, Iowa, while on leave of absence.

THE CIVIL WAR "GREYBEARDS"

I have just been looking through an old book about the Civil War and have found some interesting items. The book originally came from Capt. A. W. Dunn, who gave it to his sister, Mrs. Greenwill. She left it to her daughter, Stella Greenwill, who has just given it to the Wayne County Historical Society.

One of the first items of interest I found was about the 37th Iowa Reg., which was called the "Greybeard Regiment" because it was made up of men all over military age. It claimed they were all over 45 years of age, although looking through my list I found one whose age was given as 43.

In looking through the Wayne County names I find four who were in that regiment. The first is French E. Brown from Bethlehem, 43 years old. Next was Samuel H. Draper, from New York, and William Scott, also 45, from Corydon. This Samuel H. Draper lived just west of the old West Union schoolhouse, where I attended school, and I knew him well. He was the grandfather of the Sam. Draper we know, who lives south of Corydon. The regiment when mustered in had 907 men and they had a combined total of 1,374 sons and grandsons in the Union army. It contained 27 preachers, 20 of them Methodists. Who Brown, Scott and Williams were I have no idea, as I never knew any by that name among the old soldiers around New York. We did have a man, an old soldier that I knew in the 1880's, French Davis, father of I. G. Davis, well known in Corydon some years ago. He was then in his 70's, and may have been a member of this regiment, but did not enlist from Wayne County. (Note: He did enlist, but from Wapello County).

Part of their time they were used as guards over rebel prisons, first at Alton, Illinois, later at Camp Chase, Ohio, and also over the railroad lines. These men went into service in December 1862. No other state had a regiment like this one. I found the story about Curtis King, who enlisted from Wapello County, who was 82 years old. He was a man in excellent health, six feet one inch in height and with a great frame. He would take his turn on guard duty at a time when many men much younger would be hospitalized. He came from a long line of men, of great stature and long lived. His grandfather lived to be 115 years of age, while his uncles were all large, one of them over 7 feet tall. He was believed to be of a large family. He was married at the age of twenty to a woman much older and they had six sons and three daughters. He was 57 when his wife died, then he married a 16-year-old girl and they had nine sons and three daughters, making him the father of 21 children. Think of it, 82 years old, a private in the Union Army, and even then could wear out many younger soldiers.

By Warren H. Burton.

The 37th Regiment was mustered into service of the U. S. at Muscatine, Iowa, December 15, 1862, by Capt. H. B. Hendershott of the U. S. Army, and they were mustered out May 24, 1865.

Further research shows that there were six Wayne County men in the "Graybeard" regiment.

TWO DRUMMER BOYS, 92 AND 12

William Patterson (Pat) Allred, 92, and Buddy Kelley, 12, above, both of Corydon, Ia., are two of the best pals in the National Association of Civil War and Sons of Veterans Musicians. Allred, new national president of the musicians, says there's "only 80 years difference in our ages."

1951 1950

Corydon, Iowa, boasts the youngest and also the oldest active member of the National Association of Civil War and sons of Union Veterans Musicians.

William Patterson (Pat.) Allred who was elected president of the national body Tuesday, hails from the same Iowa town as Buddy Kelley, 12, who started as a drummer in the Corydon drum and bugle corps when he was 9.

Friends say there may be older members of the civil war musicians than Pat, but he is the only one who still marches at every encampment. On the other hand, they are certain that Buddy is the youngest member on the national roster.

Allred enlisted in the Civil war from Wayne Co. as a private in the 46th Volunteer Iowa Infantry 11 months before Lee's surrender.

"I stayed in the army until I fell with my rifle in my hand" he said, "but it was not a confederate bullet that laid me low. It was sickness. That was at Collierville, Tenn. I never beat a drum in the civil war."

The veteran said it was not until after the world war that he organized a four-member drum and bugle corps in Corydon. At that time he began to play the drum and some time later he joined the civil war musicians. He was elected secretary-treasurer of the National organization in Denver, and held that office 10 years.

Corydon drum and bugle corps members smilingly admit that "Pat still bosses the bunch". Buddy Kelly has drummed at three state and three national encampments, counting the present. Friends pointed out that Buddy "just had to be military" with a list of fighting ancestors.

His Grandfather, Grant Kelley, was in the Spanish-American war, His Great Grandfather, William Kelley, was a Corp. in the Civil War, Buddy says that "next to drumming, I like eating best". Corydon folks say neither Pat nor Buddy ever misses practice.

The above article appeared in the Des Moines Tribune, issue of Sept. 8, 1938.

The following poem was written by Comrade William (Pat) Allred, 1935

The weary march, the battles roar
Comes to the memory o'er and o'er.
The dead and dying, wounded all
Commingle in one funeral pall;
You see it all down through the years
And oft your eyes are dimmed with tears;
Those by-gone days, they all come back
When comrades shared their last Hard Tack.
Brave heroes sleep in southern soil
Away from all life's busy toil,
While some are living good and true
As in the days they wore the blue;
Their scattering locks are turning gray
And all too soon must pass away.
Good people all let nothing lack,
To those who once could eat Hard Tack.
Here's to the years that are stretched ahead
To the days that are blithsome and gay,
May the joys of the old be the joys of the new,
And the sorrows fade gently away,
Like a soft gentle breeze springing up from the past
And dispelling the gloom from a sky overcast,
So the thoughts of the days that forever have fled,
Give strength to our courage and lead us ahead.
May neither prophet, the seer, nor the sage Discourage the thoughts of a happy old age.

The following story was first printed in the Des Moines Register and then in the Corydon, Iowa newspaper, which I shall title:

THE GLORIOUS 23RD IOWA VOLUNTEER INFANTRY

At the battle of Port Gibson the Union Army met with a stout resistance but a brilliant charge by the 23rd Iowa drove them from the field in confusion. While the 23rd was forming its line, made necessary by the order of pursuit, General GRANT rode up and enquired the name of the regiment. On being told he responded, "Boys, I could take you all in my arms", and turning to his staff and swinging his hat he exclaimed, "Three Cheers for the 23rd Iowa."

His exclamation arose from the fact that it was the first of a series of Victories culminating in the capture of Vicksburg, and solved the doubtful problem of entering the heart of the enemy's country, cut off from its base of communications and supplies.

The 23rd made the memorable charge at Black River Bridge where the best stand was made by the rebels previous to the siege of Vicksburg and which was especially noted by General Grant in his report. It will be interesting to note the names of some Wayne Co. men who participated in this memorable battle at Port Gibson, and who belonged to the 23rd Co. "D" Ia. Inf. At the time this article was written these men lived in or near Corydon:

Wm. A. Littell, Hiram Evans, George W. Dean, A. Standifird, J. E. Moore, A. Perkins, P. Brock, J. Bridges, G. W. Sharp, H. J. Sharp, H. Osborn, F. Browning, Cal. Gleason, J. N. Douglas, W. H. Clancy, G. W. Munden, W. F. Wilkie, M. Collins, R. Campbell, F. Sturgeon, M. P. Kellogg, H. M. Fitzgerald, James Roe, J. W. Rankin, and Henry Shaw.

SOUTHERN BORDER BRIGADE

Wayne county families living along the Missouri border were constantly in danger in the early days of the Rebellion, living as they did in the southern tier of counties. They were compelled to organize for protection. The Union families in the state of Missouri were placed in a most desperate situation. There was fierce and relentless war with their rebel neighbors. They were driven from their homes and their property taken for use in the rebel army. This situation resulted in the forming of the "Southern Border Brigade".

The following is part of a letter written by Gov. Samuel J. Kirkwood in 1862 to Capt. W. W. Thomas of Corydon, Iowa.

"Sir; a law has just been passed by the General Assembly authorizing the organization of the Border Brigade. I desire you to enlist the company in your county. I will hold you responsible. Your company can consist of not less than 80 and no more than 100 men all told, and report the names to the Adj. General." This Capt. Thomas did.

The appointed officers were:

Capt. E. E. Esteb, Promise City; Lieut. A. M. Corbett, Bethlehem; O. Serg. J. S. Whittaker, Corydon; Bugler, J. S. Griffith, Grand River. These men and 96 privates made up the company.

Capt. WILLIAM WRIGHT THOMAS was born in Frederick Co. Maryland in 1813 and died in Wayne Co. Iowa, Feb. 1899. He drilled three companies during the Civil War. The last one was in 1864. Co. "H" 46th Iowa Inf., the 100-day regiment of which he was a member. He was 51 years old at the time.

He had two brothers in the war. Dr. Moses Thomas, Surgeon, and James Thomas, leader of the Band.

He is the Grandfather of Mrs. Eva Miles.

CAPT. WILLIAM WRIGHT THOMAS

Camp, 4th Iowa, Cav.
July 13th 1864.

Dear wife and children,

Here I am very comfortably seated on a camp stool in Lieut. M.V.B. Dheafers tent with nothing to do this afternoon but to write. I came to Memphis day before yesterday with leave of absence until to day. I went down this morning to go back too late for the cars and they are not going to send but one train so I have to stay until tmorrow morning. I got to Memphis after sun down Monday evening and reported to Gen. head quarters and got my pass. I then went to see Mr. Clark at the hospital. I found him improving very fast. I think he will be able to go back to camp in a few days. They have got the disease broken up, all he needs now is to gain strength and he will be all right. The health of the company when I left Monday was very good. I believe there was but one sick in camp and he was getting much better. George Day has a right sore finger. I am afraid it will be some time before he will be able to do much with it. It is some kind of a gathering in the finger next the little one on the right hand. There is nothing dangerous about it, but it is pretty painful. Mart is enjoying first rate health and is a No. 1 first rate fellow. I came out here yesterday morning, in the afternoon we mounted a couple of horses and went down to Memphis and looked around, then a while took a soda and ice cream.

I went to see Mr. Clark again and then we mounted our horses and rode around and looked at the fortifications. Saw the sights that were to be seen there, many which were a number of cannon that looked like they would take a young one in about the size of Anna. We then went out to the camp of the third Iowa Cavalry and took supper with Maj. B. S. Jones and spent a couple of hours very pleasantly with the Maj. and his brother. Musician Jimmy Fitzgerald and John Hassell and the rest of the Wayne county boys being out with Gen. Smith at the front. The recruits that went out last winter have not got to the regiment yet. I should like to have seen Jo. Lawsen first rate. It is abominable outrage the way they are treating them boys, but that is about the way old "Jim Baker" does business. If the devil ever gets him and he is pretty sure to do so, he will find him the contraryest old hound he ever had any thing to do with. This morning we saddled or rather had our horses saddled for us and went down to the city and when I found Jones too late I went to the Genl's office and got my leave of absence extended two days to keep me safe from the provost marshal general as I had no particular fancy for going to the Prison Block, the place where they put all soldiers that are in the city without a pass and all secessionists they get hold of. The boys dread that block worse than any other place on the world. They have a crowd of prisoners there now, soldiers and secessionists. I was in there yesterday, they had a hard set. It is just the hardest cases that get in there.

I was nearly all over the city this forenoon. I was very much surprised to see so many fine residences and business houses. They have some as fine residences here as ever I saw and the finest shade trees. They have no marble to make their fronts of, but they make some very good imitations out of brick. A person could not tell the difference by looking at them. They have a great many as fine looking blocks of buildings here as the best ones we saw in Chicago.

Uncle Sam has taken nearly all of them to make hospitals and head-quarters. They all belonged to secessionists. The more I see of this country the more I am surprised to think any set of men would have been such a set of fools as to get up this rebellion. Memphis would have been one of the foremost cities of the south if it had not been for the rebellion, though this place has probably been as little injured by the war as any other place. There has not been any hard fighting here and the place has escaped injury in that way, but their trade has been nearly ruined and if it was not for the business made by the military there would be nothing doing here. They have a park in the center of the city that is the nicest place I ever saw. It is filled with beautiful shade trees. Among the rest there are a great many Magnolias, but it is most too cold for them to do first rate. They do not grow near so large nor are they near so nice here as they are further south. The men tell me who have seen them further south. They have the park laid off in all directions with paths well paved and they keep men employed to keep the edges trimmed up square. They have it set in grass most beautifully and will not let anybody lay on the grass except invalids from the hospitals. You better think the citizens look mad when a soldier comes along about the time they get comfortably laid down and tells them to get up off the grass. They make them walk right quick. Another thing of the park is they have about 50 tame squirrels running and hopping around within 6 or 8 ft. of you. In the center of the park is a monument of General Jackson. On one side is the "Federal armies must and shall be preserved". The rebs tried to cut out the Federal. They did not get it defaced so, but you can read it. The hound that done it ought to have been hung.

Yesterday I met Green Cavender. He has not let his arm as now separated, but has a running sore since last fall from vaccination. It is doubtful whether it ever gets well. I believe I can not think of anything else of interest. Remember me to my friends, give my love to Matilda and Bell and an abundance to yourself and the children.

As ever yours, Will.

VITAL STATISTICS

by Ortha Green

Some day our names will be written upon the pages white.
The blanks will be filled by a stranger.
Name — birth — death in sequence.
Then the pages will be filed along with hundreds of others. The book will be closed on one more human life, to be forgotten for perhaps an hundred years, when some one, wishing to know about their forebears, will search the records, and once again we are alive, marching in review.

Dr. George W. Hinkle

Born Sept. 30, 1849 in Jackson Co. Indiana, and died May 13, 1933 in Wayne County, Ia.

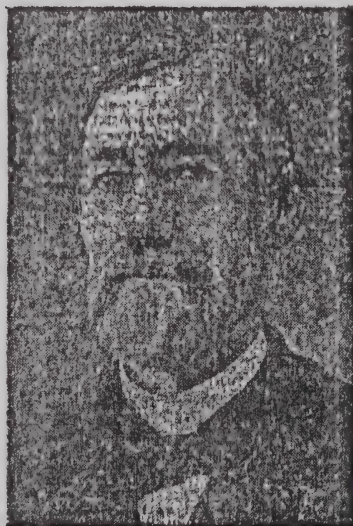

At the age of 15 years he enlisted in Co. "T", 45th, Iowa, Infantry, serving six months. After his graduation from Medicine in 1875, he practiced in Warsaw, Iowa for 5 years, then located in Harvard, Iowa, where he continued his active practice as long as he was able to travel the country roads, which was over fifty years. He was the only Doctor in Wayne county to be a life member in the State Medical Society.

Dr. Wm. Henry Earnest

Born November 26, 1848 in Green Co. Penn. Died March 4, 1945 in Wayne Co., Ia., at Seymour.

At the age of 15 years William Earnest enlisted in Co. "D" 150th Ohio, Vol. Inf., re-enlisting in the 189th Ohio Vol. and served until the end of the war.

He came to Wayne County, Iowa in 1871, locating in Seymour. It was here that he spent the remainder of his life. He was the last of the Civil War Veterans in Wayne County.

THE DIARY OF DR. E. P. BURTON

The diary of Dr. E. P. Burton differs from that of Mr. Andrews, in that his field of action was entirely different, and his comments were more explicit. Each day, besides commenting on the weather, he tells of his trips visiting the sick, both in the hospitals and outside, taking his meals and calling on other doctors. While Mr. Andrews' army service was all in Missouri and Arkansas, Dr. Burton's service started in Southern Tennessee, from there to northern Alabama, northwest Georgia, from there to Savannah, then north to Washington. But to take up the diary.

Inducted into service in January, 1864, in Springfield, Illinois, he was sent directly to Pulaski, Tennessee, which is in the southern part of the state, near the Alabama line, and not too far from the northwest corner of Georgia, and in the heart of the rebel territory. This is also near the scene of some earlier battles. Chattanooga, Chickamauga and Lookout Mountain. He was in Pulaski till April 27th, 1864, when they were moved to Athens, Alabama, just across the state line.

The Doctor goes into intimate details of each day's work. Here is a sample: Thursday, April 7th, another beautiful day. Col. Rowitt arrived at noon today. I was glad to see him, hope he will keep things more orderly than they have been. I rode a borrowed horse down to the river and saw the artillery drill. The great feature that day has been the arrival of the 120 or 130 contrabands (negros) from Tennessee River, southwest of here. They came with six or eight teams, some oxen, some mules. They came with their wagons full of baggage. They were taken right over to the contraband camp, (Negro corral). It is difficult to conceive of what is to become of all these people, in slavery they are to be pitied, freed all at once and unprepared for the things that are just ahead. They said that many of their masters had gone away, and soldiers had gotten all their provisions, so they could not stay at home. (diary for one day). This is a sample of his daily items. While we can see from occasional references something about his hospital work, yet his daily comments are mostly about things unrelated to his work.

In Athens, Alabama, May 2nd. Has been rather quiet around the hospital. Went a mile in the country to see a sick lady, found her dead. Found a roomful of refugees quite destitute and most of them sick. May 11th, terrible rain last night and the town full of wet soldiers. 3000 of the 17th Army Corps came in last night and this morning on their way to the front. (all kinds of rumors of rebel troops near). May 18th, surprised to see the whole regiment back in. It seems their mission had accomplished little, for the rebels had skedaddled and left, but left booty and glory for the boys. This diary continues in like manner till June 24th, when they moved to Tilton, Georgia. Moved to Rome, Ga. July 9th. All through August, September and October till November 10th, 1864, in Rome Georgia busy with sick and wounded, then into tents and on the move, which is their start on the celebrated, "Sherman's March to the Sea". Mentions Altoona, Kingston, Carterville and Ackworth.

Then Nov. 15th at Atlanta. Then Clinton, Gordon, Ironton, Summerville, Million to the edge of Savannah on December 14th, 1864. Captured Fort McAllister that day. So ends the famous "Sherman's March to the Sea."

We have all read and heard of this march, and this diary, giving dates and length of time, gives us a better knowledge of this event. And whereas Dr. Burton, up to Nov. 10th, was for most of that time stationed in camps with buildings and fairly comfortable quarters, from that time on they were continually on the march. He tells of the terrible destruction, burning and sacking of towns, stripping the country of everything in their foraging raids. Southerners do not like the song, "Marching Through Georgia", and we can not blame them.

But now we now take up the diary, which for the next five months tells us something we have read little about, leaving Savannah and the long march north, through South and North Carolina, then through Virginia to Washington, from January, 1865 to June, between 500 and 600 miles continual marching. Through rain and mud, and snow, through swamps and timber, being harrassed continually by rebel troops, this aftermath of the much publicized "March to the Sea", is something not much dwelt on by historians. Yet this was a much more grueling experience than the one through Georgia. Going north-east, they were continually crossing creeks and rivers, which flowed easterly to the ocean, finding many of the bridges destroyed ahead of them by the rebels, in swampy places having to wait while the army cut trees to make a "corduroy" road. Many times the wagons carrying their tents and provisions failed to catch up with them when night came and they were forced to sleep out on the ground without cover. Sometimes in the rain and sometimes without supper. No wonder they were frequently sick and in the hospital. In Dr. Burton's case, born in January, 1826, he was his 39th birthday and probably could not stand the rigors of the march like so many of the troops 20 years younger.

Here are some of the town menstioned. Crocketville, Branchville and Columbia. Much burning and looting of towns. Then Camden, and Cheraw, all these towns in South Carolina. Then in North Carolina, Fayetteville and Goldsboro. Around March 21st and 22nd, 1865, heavy fighting where he was until April 17th. Then still northeast—Raleigh, Louisburg and Warrentown, North Carolina, and Lawrenceville, Virginia. Saw Libby Prison near Richmond. Then through Bowling Green, Fredericksburg and Alexandria until May 20th, with Washington in view. Took part, May 24th, in the Grand Review in Washington, and the next few days seeing Washington.

Then on June 1st, left by train for Louisville, Kentucky, where he was kept until his discharge, July 10th, 1865, at Springfield, Illinois.

The diary ends June 22nd.

Here are a few pertinent facts. Lee surrendered to Grant, April 9th, 1865. Lincoln was assassinated April 14th, 1865. Rebel General Johnson surrendered to General Sherman, April 27th, 1865. These diaries tell only certain phases of the war, with Andrews in the Cavalry and Burton as Doctor and surgeon. The Dr. was always kept behind the lines and was never up with the fighting men.

"MY CLOSEST CALL"

My closest call was at the battle of Pea Ridge, March 7, 1862, while on my knees holding my gun perpendicularly and putting a cap on the nipple a ball struck the stock tearing it half away, broke the screw that held the lock in place and struck me just below the belt plate, tore my clothing but did no further damage except to make a large blue spot and for a while made me think I had attended the last roll call. I served four years and was on every March and in every battle in which the regiment was engaged which, Captain Bishop says, was thirty-eight.

Camp at Walnut Hills, Miss.
July 16th, 1863.

Dear Amanda

I received your good and kind letter of May 18th, a long time ago and have put off writing from time to time until the present. I rec'd a line from Mag and Visa the same time of yours. But they said they had not time to write but very little and sure enough they didn't write very much. Now I am not going to write them until they get more time. I expect that was just what they wanted. Well Amanda I have been here in this camp in the hills for pretty near 2 months and do not get to hear nor see scarcely anything here of late.

For the first 47 days we got to see plenty of Rebs and hear any amount of Artillery and Musketry. But since the 4th of July there has been a great calm. Our regiment left for Jackson, Miss. at 2 o'clock P.M. the 4th without even getting to see the Enemy's works that we had been fighting so long. On account of having a sprained knee I did not go with the reg. There were ten left here in camp, We are going to move camp in the inside where the rebels lines were and then all that are able are going to join the regiment. You know of course that your uncle G. T. has been sick for a long while. He has been moved from the Regimental to the Division Hospital so consequently I have not seen him for several days. I think he will be Discharged from the service soon and sent up the River. He has been an unlucky man since he left home. Entirely differently from me for I never had so good health in my life as I have had since I have been in the Service. I have not had a cold to amount to anything. I presume there were joyful times in Iowa when you got the news that Vicksburg was ours. I am sure there was here among the soldiers. We spent the "4th" a great deal more pleasantly than we expected to on the 3rd. I have only been in town once and then did not get to see anything we only went in to draw rations. A person can't stay in side of the lines 15 minutes without a pass from the Provost Marshall without being "gobbled up" by the guards and sent to the Guard House. I have not seen Howard but once we started out and only just got to speak to him then as we were passing the road where they were Camped. I heard a Day or so ago that his Reg. had not left here. I don't know whether it is so or not. I am going to find out when we get on the other side of the lines and go and see them if there. The "34" is not gone either but I have not seen any of them.

We have not heard anything from Iowa since before the Reg. left, as the mail goes to the Division. Well Amanda I was glad to hear that you were bound for a soldier. I glory in your spunk. If all the girls were like you us poor fellows that are soldiers will stand a better chance than we used to, if we are ever so lucky as to get home. My sheet is about full so I will close for this time. Write as soon as you can conveniently. Give my best respects to whom you please.

As Ever Yours,
G. J. Laing.

Miss Amanda E. Barto
Bethlehem, Iowa

I would like to see you most awful well. Couldn't come down I reckon.

WRIGHT BROTHERS LETTERS

The following letters are from three sons of Greenwood Wright, of Wright township, Wayne county, Iowa. These three brothers enlisted in the Civil War.

John N. Wright, age 20, enlisted in 1861 in Co. "K" Ind. Inf. and served one year, then re-enlisted at the age 21. with his brothers in Co. "F" 36th Iowa. Inf. as 2nd Lieut. He was a prisoner at Marks Mill, Arkansas and was confined 13 months at Shreveport, La.

Samuel W. Wright, age 19, enlisted in Co. "F" 36th Ia. Inf. in 1862 and was 8th Corp.

William H. Wright, age 18, enlisted in Co. "F" 36th Ia. Inf. in 1862. In the spring of 1864 he went as a recruit and died in service April 1, 1864. He lies buried north east of Confidence, in Evans Cemetery. A monument was erected in honor of the Civil War Veterans buried there.

November 23rd, 1861.
Camp Near Seneca Mills,
Maryland.

16th Regt. Ind. Vol. Co. "K"

My Dear Brother,

I received your kind letter dated Nov. 15th this evening which gave such satisfaction to hear from home once more.

It is 7 o'clock P.M., our brass band is playing to pass the lonely hours. We have some of the best music I ever heard by any band. I am sure it would please you to hear them play Dixie and Fishers Hornpipe.

The soldier has a hard life (if he was going for the money he would get tired very soon) But when he considers what he is fighting for or what he has left his happy home for, he is willing to endure the hardships with all the patience that man has. I am willing to do all in my power to save this Glorious Union.

My respects to V. Aubry, T. Davis, Wm. Capaday and good Dr. Gibbons.

Your affectionate Brother,
J. N. Wright

Camp Near Fredrick, Md.
December 18th A.D., 1861.

Dear Brother,

I have been at the hospital ever since the first of the month, but I am able to sit up. J. W. May comes down every day and chats a while.

We have fine weather for the time of year, no snow and but very little rain. The boys have built very comfortable winter quarters. Every unit contains six men, and they built them 9 by 12, put up a chimney chinked and dobbed it, which makes us very comfortable.

It is only a week until Christmas. I should like very much to come and take Christmas dinner with you, but guess I will not come this time.

Wm. Denny and Sanders Cooper are both here. They have been recruiting our regiment and they came with the recruits.

My respects to Grandfather May and tell him I have not forgotten him. No more at present but write soon and oblige your brother.

John N. Wright

December 13th, 1862.

Dear Brother,

I take this opportunity of writing you a few lines to let you know that I have not forgotten you. I enjoy good health. I weigh over one hundred and sixty pounds. So you may know I am a horse.

J. N. Wright, H. G. May and J. W. May are all well. I do not know when we will leave here, our cartridges are here, so when we leave here we will load our guns, I think before we leave.

The morning paper says that our army has taken Fredricksburg, so when we take Richmond and Charleston we will come home.

Our Officers have confiscated them a Negro to cook for them and black their boots.

I will have to stop writing and go drill as the drums are beating, so no more at present.

Yours, truly,
William H. Wright

Helena, Arkansas.
February 1st, 1862.

Well Boys;

Being as this is Sunday evening and I have nothing to do, I will give you ideas by way of stunts.

Well boys how is health with you?

My health was never better than at present. Samuel (meaning himself) is not very well, he has had the Bronchitis, but I think he is on the mend. I had him come up and stay in my cabin and he is laying by my side whenever I lay down to sleep so that I may do anything for him that he wants done. But do not infer from this that he is not able to sit up, for he is sitting up by the fireside now.

I must stop here a few moments and give him a dose of medicine.

Well, sir have you seen any rebels lately?

Oh, yes, every day more or less are brought in by our scouts.

Are they saucy?

Yes, one of them told some of the boys the other day that the Yankees were Blue Bellies and had stripes up their backs like a mule. God d-m them. The Yankees would of killed the scoundrel had it not been for the guards.

What kind of weather in Arkansas?

As warm as May in Iowa and rains every fifteen minutes if it wants to. Mud is from knee deep to belly deep to a long-legged mule in this city, (Helena)

Do you ever see any ladies?

Plenty of them but they are generally as black as the soil in a low bottom in Iowa.

Now Sir, take your pen in hand and don't loose your grip on it until you have written a long letter. We are thankful for small favors and large ones in proportion. I must close.

Your brother
Samuel W. Wright.

On Board Steamer Mariner.
April 7th, 1862.

Dear Brother.

I am again able for full rations and double duty, having fully recovered from my sickness. We left Shell Mound last Sunday the 5th and to-night we lay in Yazoo Pass. We have had some pretty tight times since we left Helena, but we have lived over it and getting better fast. Coming up the river agrees with us all. Well sir, we called a halt yesterday evening and we took on a little fresh beef, which was not only good, but very good. When we get beef in that way it does us a great deal more good than if the Government had furnished it. We have taken several fine hens since we have been on this trip which I found to be very good. Well Reed take good care of my dog "Nero".

Helena Arkansas, April 21, 1863.

Dear Mother,

We received yours of the 10th Inst. to-day which gave us much satisfaction to hear from you all once more. My health at present is better than it has been for some time, although I am not as well as would like to be. I am bothered considerably with Diarrhea but it is getting better all the time. Samuel W. health is improving and I am inclined to think that he is going to get well yet.

The sick list of our company is pretty strong at this time. The worst cases are all getting better. W. McCullough is discharged from the hospital. John W. Clowser is mending finely, also Thomas Worthington, Grissner and Shutterly are on the mend. We don't report more than 30 or thirty-five men for duty, and our company is an average company. About one more trip down the Yazoo Pass would send our regiment all to the hospital. Officers not excepted.

The following officers have offered their resignation belonging to our Regt. Major Woodward, Capt. Noble, Lieut's Walker and Sharp, and I presume that they will be accepted. There will be quite a number of men discharged from the Regt. in a short time. Men that will never be fit for service anymore.

We are camped about two hundred and fifty yards from the quarters that we stayed in last winter while at this place. We are on a high ridge in fair view of Helena and the Mississippi River. It being but a half mile from camp to the river we see all steamers that run the river here.

A. B. Prather got a letter to-day stating that Robert Etheridge was dead. I regretted very much to hear of his death, but it was a great satisfaction to us to have him get home before he died. Capt. Vermillion enjoys good health most of the time.

We received four months pay a few days ago. I sent $75 and Sam $40, home by delivery letter. James S. Wolf started this evening with the money. We put up a package with seven hundred dollars and forty-five dollars in it to be delivered by said Wolf to Greenwood Wright, Confidence, Iowa. The packages are all marked who to and the amount in them and also put it down on a piece of paper and put that paper in a large package. We had a fine growing shower to day about twelve noon which was truly refreshing both for man and vegetation, for it is extremely warm here in the daytime and the reverse at night.

I think our regiment will probably stay here all summer from the way things are working. Our Brigade is all most alone here. The rest of the troops have gone to Vicksburg. However we will have plenty of soldiers soon for they are forming a brigade of Nigers at this post, and they will have it full. I say "Bully for the nigers".

I am making my calculations to hear of some fighting done soon both at Vicksburg and Charleston. They have stopped the news papers for ten days so I do not have much of an idea what the news is up to the present time. The (Sun Shine) brought the news that they were fighting at Vicksburg with their best guns etc. But there is nothing reliable in the report. I don't think. But at the end of ten days I think we will hear of some thing being done.

I want this war to be finished up just as soon as possible and the only way to settle it is to fight, so I say let us fight and not hold back any longer. I don't want to delay so long. The quicker we get about the work the quicker we will get home. Attest; That is the way I see the matter. We can't compromise with them for we have nothing to compromise and even if we were willing to compromise the Southern Confederacy would accept nothing but an unconditional surrender. I say never while there is hope of success must we flinch, and I am safe in saying that the soldiers are in better spirits now than they have been before I left Iowa. I speak of the army that is here and the soldiers that I see myself and hear them express themselves.

The soldiers most of all like the Constrict Act also arming the negro. Men that said one month ago if the president armed the Niger they would desert, are now in favor of it. They are in for anything that will put down the rebellion. They no longer hang on the Emancipation Bill. This is true. I have heard men talk just as I have above stated. Our regiment would vote almost to a man the Union Ticket.

Some cowardly, sneaking, infamous, traitor wrote a piece denouncing the administration and every thing that was loyal and had it published in the Rebel Sheet (Chicago Times) that every loyal citizen despised worse than the Richmond Enquirer, Signed voice of Iowa Soldiers. The Times states that the piece in question was read at Camp before Greenwood, Miss., to the 29th, 33rd and 36th Iowa Regiments, and there was not a dissenting voice. That it made some of the officers look pretty black, but they dared not say any thing. Three cheers were then given (so says the Times), for it and not a man raised his voice against it.

The whole thing is a lie from beginning to ending. There never was such a piece read to the above mentioned regiment, and I am sure of one thing, that is, that the writer had not better make himself known or he will get some of Uncle Sams Blue Pills. And I assure you that the editor of the Times would get what he needs if he would show himself in either one of the above mentioned regiments.

I say it is false. I don't want you to let Copperheads stay about you very much, make them stay to themselves. I do hate a man that will hide while I am passing his house and after I get past come out and shoot me in the back. They all do their firing after we get our back to them. Must close and write soon and oblige.

Your son: J. N. Wright

SOLDIERS AND SAILORS MONUMENT

Corydon, Iowa, was the first county-seat town in the state to erect a monument in memory of the soldiers and sailors of three great wars. Namely, Civil, Spanish-American and World War 1.

A movement to purchase the monument was started by the G.A.R. organization and was aided by the Board of Supervisors. It was purchased from A. T. Gallagher, monument dealer in Corydon, for the sum of $6,500. The monument is of a beautiful light grey granite, the top representing a Civil War Veteran. On three sides are dates and symbols of the three wars. It stands on the west side of the court yard.

In preparation for the erection of the monument, Capt. William Littell was first to break ground, taking one shovelful of soil. Comrade Wm. "Pat" Allred, the second; C. C. Clark, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, the third, and George Sapp, a Board of Supervisor member, the fourth, while the other board member, V. C. Lovett, witnessed the proceedings.

The monument was unveiled and dedicated May, 1919, and the impressive ceremony was headed by Corydon's famous Drum Corps. A large and appreciative crowd was in attendance.

WILLIAM J. HESKETT

Born June 22, 1841 and died March 14, 1914 in Wayne county, Iowa. He was a veteran of the Civil War, enlisting in Co. "D" 1st, Virginia Cavalry. The most of his life was spent in Wayne county where he was a prominent citizen and land holder.

SAMUEL E. COATES

Born March 26, 1847 in Wheeling, West Virginia and died Aug. 20, 1923 in Wayne county, Iowa. He was a veteran of the Civil War, serving with a West Virginia regiment. He was an honored citizen of Wayne county and is buried in the Shriver cemetery.

JOHN HENRY RAIKES

Born June 13th, 1844 in Putnam Co. Ind.

Died Jan. 10th, 1917 in Wayne Co. Iowa

He enlisted at the age of 18 on July 20th, 1863 in Co. "H" 115th Ind. Inf. and was honorably discharged Feb. 25th, 1864, at expiration of term of service. He endured many hardships and at one time his daily ration was one ear of parched corn.

Five of his grandsons and six great grandsons have served in later wars.

IN MEMORIAM

To all Civil War Veterans who lie asleep in the cemeteries of Wayne County, Iowa, even though some graves are unmarked and the names of some are unknown, we bow our heads in humbleness and gratitude for their heroic sacrifices.

PEACEFUL SLEEP

by Ortha Green

Sleep undisturbed, oh brave, noble men;
Rest until the waking day.
We who are left will bear the torch down through the years,
to keep the freedom you have won.
Though many changes come,
your bravery and sacrifices
will be enshrined in our hearts.
The fires of memory burning will linger ever with the years.

SONGS OF THE CIVIL WAR

"Battle Hymn of the Republic", by Julia Ward Howe, written 1861. "Battle Cry of Freedom", "Just Before the Battle Mother" and "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp", all by George F. Root. "The Girl I Left Behind Me", by Samuel Lover, "John Brown's Body", author unknown. "Yankee Doodle" and "When Johnny Comes Marching Home", unknown.

"Tenting To-night" by Walter Kittridge and "Marching Through Georgia" by Henry Clay Work were always sung at G.A.R. camps. "Marching Through Georgia" was sung at the Grand Review in Washington D.C. on May 24, 1865. "We Are Coming Father Abraham" by James S. Gibbons and our national anthem "Star Spangled Banner" by Francis Scott Key were for the most part "Union" songs.

Those designated as Confederate songs were: "Dixie" by Patrick S. Gilmore, "Maryland My Maryland", "Cheer, Boys, Cheer" by H. Russell, "Old Folks at Home" and "My Old Kentucky Home Goodnight" by Stephen C. Foster and "The Year of Jubilee" which was sung by the Negro army as they entered Richmond April 3, 1865.

"The Faded Coat of Blue" by H. McNaughton, was sung extensively through the north during the war, in memory of the lads who were gathered with the bivouac of the dead.

1. "My brave lad he sleeps in his faded coat of blue,
In a lonely grave unknown lies the heart that beats true.
He sank faint and hungry among the famished brave,
And they laid him sad and lonely within his nameless grave.

Cho.

- No more the bugle calls the weary one,
Rest noble spirit, in thy grave unknown.
I'll find you and know you, among the good and true,
When a robe of white is given for the faded coat of blue.
2. He cried "Give me water and just a little crumb,
And my mother she will bless you thro' all the years to come.
Oh, tell my sweet sister, so gentle, so good and true,
That I'll meet her up in Heaven in my faded coat of blue."

W. GRANT KELLEY

Born Feb. 28, 1876

Enlisted in the Spanish-American War from Wayne County, Iowa, in Co. "H" 50th Iowa Infantry, 1898. His father, Wm. Kelley, was a Civil War veteran, his grandfather, John Kelley, fought in the Indian War, his son, Kenneth, in World War I, and his grandson, Buddy Kelley, in World War II. Five generations of soldiers.

WAYNE COUNTY VETERANS

of the

SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR

While the Spanish-American War is really not a part of the Civil War Centennial, yet in this instance it is an aftermath of the war.

Grant Kelley's father, William Kelley, and a neighbor man had grown up together in the Peoria neighborhood, northwest of Corydon. Both of these men, Kelley, 36, and married, and Calvin Holder, 28, also married, left their families and enlisted in September 1862 in Co. "F" 34th Iowa Infantry. They were buddies in the war, and William Kelley came home and lived till almost 90 years of age. Calvin Holder died of disease during the war and William Kelley's wife died before his return home.

Coming back to his old neighborhood Kelley married the Holder widow and later she became the mother of Grant Kelley.

What a heritage of Civil War days came to Grant, for like his name-sake the great General U. S. Grant, no wonder he wanted to carry on so loyally.

Thus we include the Spanish-American War in honor of our 85-year-old Grant Kelley, who is the only remaining veteran of Wayne County, Iowa, still living.

The men of this war were mustered into service of the United States, at Camp McKinley, Des Moines, Iowa, on May 17, 1898 by Capt. J. A. Olmstead, U.S.A.

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT THE SPANISH AMERICAN WAR

By

Veteran Grant Kelley

I notice in so many of our newspapers that the citizens of this great country of ours do not appreciate what the American soldier and sailor have done for them. It so burns one up that I am tempted to explain the cause and conflicts of the Spanish-American War. I notice an article in one of our leading papers referring to the opinion held by some that the Spanish War veterans were on a vacation from 1898 to 1902. Was he in the war, or was he too big a coward to get in and now wants to squawk? Makes one think of what a tough time we had with no experience of any kind. Recently we had a doctor who spoke at one of our conventions who said we were all disabilities when we were mustered out. He was asked where he got his information and got a little angry at the question.

We suffered from insufficient medical care, lack of clothing and food. The "hardtack" was maggotty, the "sow belly" was inedible and the sanitary conditions impossible. Diarrhea, malaria, typhoid and yellow fever ran rampant. After 50 years, we have some true perspectives of the importance of the Spanish-American War. Of the 50th Iowa regiment of 112 enlisted men, about 60 were able for dress parade when Governor Shaw visited us. Some had died and others were in hospitals.

Now let me give some of the reasons of the Spanish-American War. Our neighbor island of Cuba had been under Spanish insurrection for more than 50 years. In 1833, Manuel Quesada, governor of Cuba, demanded representation in the Spanish Congress. Peace did not come until 1842, when various reforms were conceded. In 1854, an expression of opinion was addressed to the government of the United States recommending it to purchase Cuba from Spain. Spain refused to sell the island. In 1875, the United States complained to Spain that the condition of insurrection in Cuba could no longer be endured. In 1896, General Weiler succeeded Campos, and angered the American people by his atrocities.

On February 15, 1898, the Battleship Maine was blown up while visiting in Havana harbor. On February 22, a message was sent to Spain to vacate Cuba, but before the message was delivered, Spain had declared war on the United States. Congress accepted the challenge and Rear Admiral Sampson was given charge of the North American Squadron and proceeded at once to the scene of disaster. And while he and General Shafter, commander of land forces, were conferring over the matter, the Spanish fleet attempted to run a blockade at Saratoga harbor. Lt. Hobson had received the idea to sink the Collier Merrimac in the entrance to the harbor, but that was partly successful for the Spanish fleet had shot away the steering gear so that the ship sank parallel with the entrance.

Commodore Schley, second in command of the flying squadron, met the Spanish fleet as it tried to escape and a running battle ensued in which the Spanish fleet was destroyed or damaged. Admiral Dewey was in Hong Kong in command of the Asiatic squadron. There he received a cable to go at once to the Philippine Islands and capture or destroy the Spanish fleet. Forty-eight hours later his six vessels, with the Olympia in the lead, were steaming toward Manilla Bay. On May 1st he opened fire on the Spanish fleet of ten vessels and two torpedo boats. By noon of that day the last Spanish flag had been hauled down and the fleet destroyed.

Not one American vessel was seriously damaged, not one had been killed and only seven were injured. While all this was going on Theodore Roosevelt, secretary of the navy, resigned that position, so that he could recruit a regiment of Cavalry, later called the "Rough Riders".

In the meantime President McKinley had called for two hundred and fifty thousand volunteers. In the call, word came from the war department that Iowa was to furnish four regiments of infantry and two companies of light artillery. All this was the beginning of the Spanish-American War. Iowa's quota of 5,719 men was filled almost over night.

Now let me give some interesting facts about the Spanish-American War. The Spanish-American War furnished every officer from the Commander-in-chief on down in World War 1. It was the only 100% volunteer war in history that has paid dividends. It was responsible for the passage of the National Defense Act. It caused the abolition of yellow fever, malaria, cholera and kindred diseases. It was the first campaign fought on foreign soil. It was a war that was won with poor equipment, antiquated guns and black powder. It established the leadership of the U.S.A. in world affairs. It taught the lesson of unpreparedness that claims more lives than war.

The veterans of this war were paid $15 a month, yet received no bonus, no war risk insurance, no adjusted compensation, no vocational training, no hospitalization until 20 years later. This war cost one billion, eight million dollars. Property acquired was valued at eight billion, eight hundred million dollars.

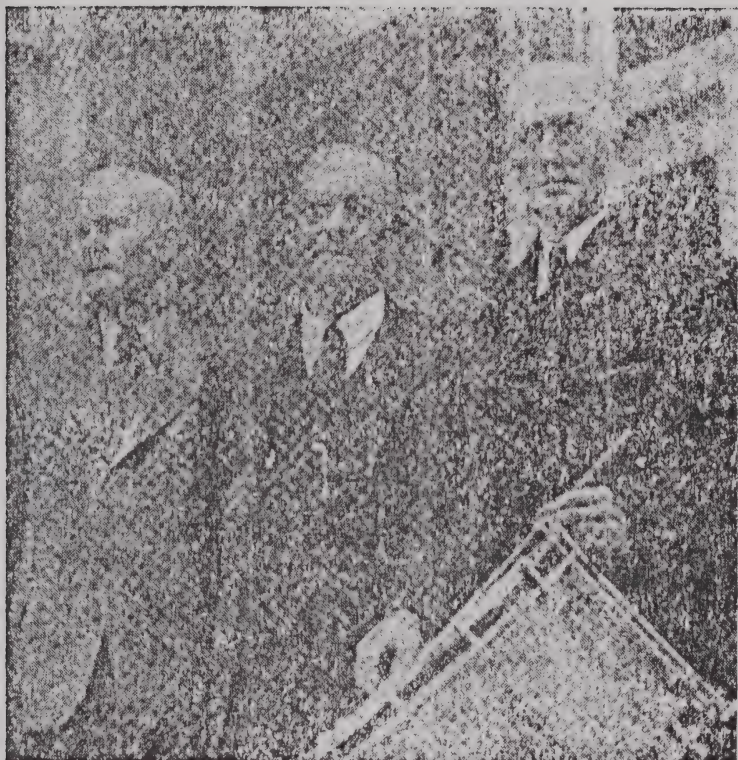

ALBERT McCLANAHAN

VETERANS OF THREE WARS

Shoulder to shoulder, veterans of three wars, are: (left to right) Dr. S. W. Corbin, Corydon, World War I veteran; Angelo Buck, Humeston, Spanish-American war soldier; and W. P. Allred, Corydon, who fought in the Civil War. These three served on the Soldiers Relief Commission in Wayne county and it is believed that this is the only committee in the state with members of three wars. Dr. Corbin is the only one living now.

YOUR LAWYER IS YOUR FRIEND

Your lawyer is educated to render professional service to you. He has high professional and ethical standards which he is required to observe.

The modern lawyer is a member of an organized bar association to assure his qualifications to render better service to you, and to eliminate the unfit practitioner.

Your lawyer can help you to hold your family together, protect your minor children, and protect your surviving spouse; he protects you against unlawful claims asserted against you and helps you to collect your rightful claims. He can assist you in planning the disposition of the fruits of your life's work, and help you plan for the welfare and future of your loved ones.

Your lawyer upholds your interests first, and devotes his best effort and skill in your behalf—he is your friend.
